EVALUATION FORMS:

It is very important to complete the evaluation forms thoroughly for all sessions that you attend. Don't forget to sign in every day. Our continued CME accreditation is dependent upon documentation from our learners of what they have learned and plan to change in their practice to improve patient care. Comments help us to improve future programs. For ABO certification, your name must appear on the form.

CME CREDIT:

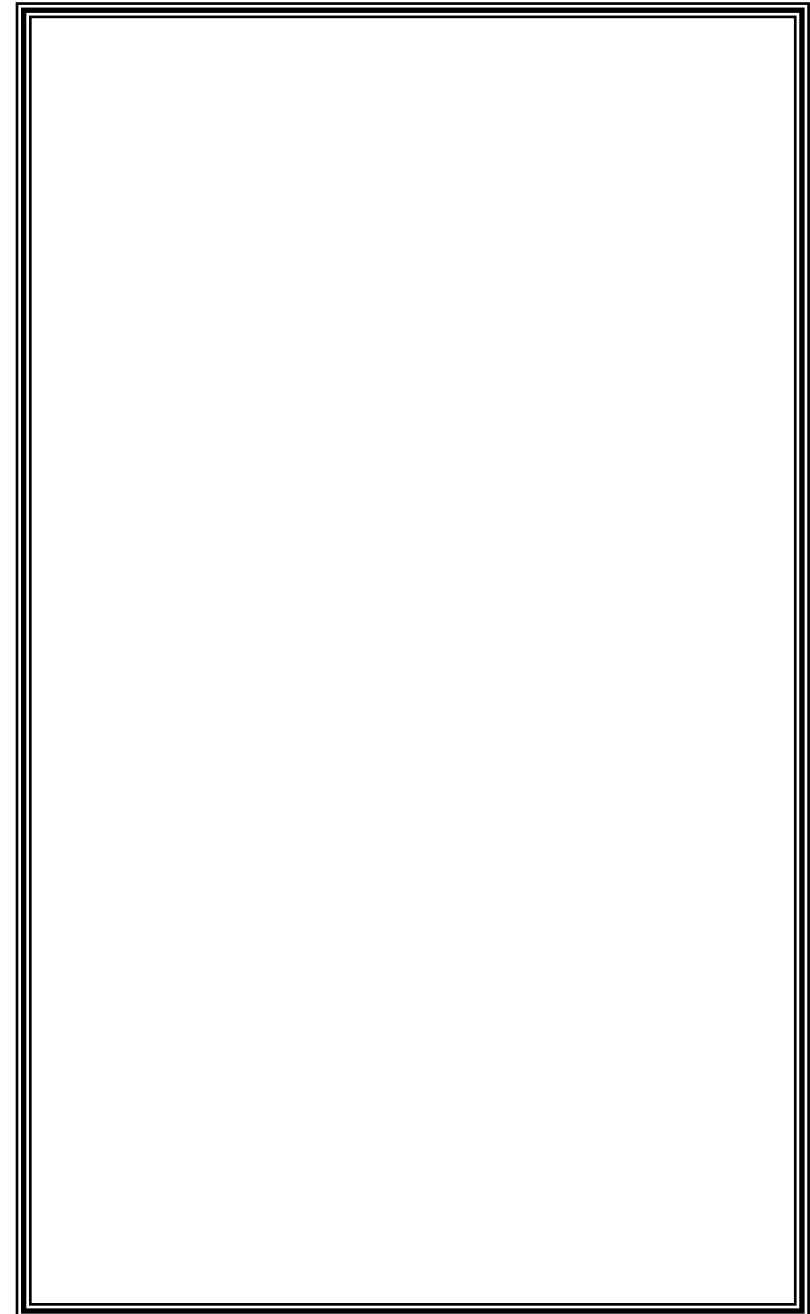

The Pacific Coast Oto-Ophthalmological Society is accredited by the Institute for Medical Quality/California Medical Association (IMQ/CMA) to provide continuing medical education for physicians. The Pacific Coast Oto-Ophthalmological Society takes responsibility for the content, quality, and scientific integrity of this CME activity. The Pacific Coast Oto-Ophthalmological Society designates this educational activity for a maximum of 17 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)TM. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity. This credit may also be applied to the CMA Certification in Continuing Medical Education.

 To receive your CME credits, you must sign in each day Certificates will be emailed to you within two weeks. If you need it sooner, please contact Thelma

Educational Objectives

It is necessary for physicians to be kept abreast of the new and constantly changing techniques and technologies in medicine in order to facilitate improved patient care.

The June 2024 Pacific Coast Oto-Ophthalmological Society (PCOOS) program is intended to provide practicing ophthalmologists and otolaryngologists with an annual update of all the various subspecialties of ophthalmology and otolaryngology. Speakers will provide clinical and evidence-based updates in a setting conducive to learning. Didactic lectures and case presentations will reinforce best practice management strategies.

We specifically anticipate improvement in skills and strategies to:

- Incorporate new techniques and medical and diagnostic tests and procedures in the management and treatment of otolaryngology and ophthalmology patients to improve the quality of their practice.
- Incorporate best available evidence and recent clinical research to improve patient assessment and treatment approaches.
- Improve clinical confidence through application of recent advances in ophthalmology and otolaryngology.
- Increase awareness of the present clinical controversies in Ophthalmological and Otolaryngological care to facilitate analysis of additional clinical evidence as it becomes available.
- Improve ability to consult with colleagues and patients regarding current and future controversial developments including new devices and drugs.

Disclosure of Financial Relationships

As a provider accredited by ACCME, CMA, the Pacific Coast Oto-Ophthalmological Society must ensure balance, independence, objectivity and scientific rigor in all of its sponsored educational activities. PCOOS adheres to the ACCME Standards for Commercial Support: Standards to Ensure Independence of CME Activities effective September 2004
Once PCOOS receives each disclosure form, the Program Chair and the Executive Secretary-Treasurer reviews the form and the “Call” together to determine the existence of personal conflicts of interest. For each individual with a personal conflict of interest, the Program Chair and Executive Secretary-Treasurer review the conflict of interest in the context of the individual’s role to resolve the conflict of interest. A speaker may be required to deliver an alternate talk that does not pose a conflict of interest. If a personal conflict of interest exists with the Program Chair or members of the Program Committee, the Executive Secretary-Treasurer along with the President assumes this role. If a conflict of interest exists with the Executive Secretary, the President and the Program Chair assumes this role. For each talk in the program, the learner is asked to indicate on the evaluation instrument if they noticed a conflict and to comment.

The following speakers have indicated a financial interest/arrangement or other relationship with ineligible companies discussed in this continuing medical education activity, or are presenting information on investigational off-label use of pharmaceutical or medical devices.

OPHTHALMOLOGY

Program

Nancy J. Newman, MD,
Guest of Honor - Ophthalmology

Dr. Newman was appointed LeoDelle Jolley Chair of Ophthalmology by Emory University School of Medicine in February 2002. She also holds the positions of professor of Ophthalmology and Neurology, and instructor in Neurological Surgery at Emory University School of Medicine. She also is director, Section of Neuro-Ophthalmology, Emory Eye Center.

Dr. Newman has more than 500 publications, including scientific articles, book chapters and books, including the primary textbook in neuro-ophthalmology, Walsh & Hoyt's Clinical Neuro-Ophthalmology, 5th and 6th editions. She is co-author, with Dr. Valérie Biousse, of the textbook, Neuro-Ophthalmology Illustrated (Thieme), the first edition published in 2009, the second edition in 2016, and the third edition in 2020. She has served on the editorial boards of the American Journal of Ophthalmology, the Journal of the Neurological Sciences, Seminars in Neurology and the Journal of Neuro-Ophthalmology. She has lectured widely throughout the world and is known for her innovative teaching style. She sees both adults and children with neuro-ophthalmologic problems, such as optic nerve disorders, visual field defects and disorders of ocular motility. Her main research interests include disorders of the optic nerve and mitochondrial diseases. She served on the Board of Trustees of Princeton University for 14 years.

Carol L. Karp, MD
Featured Speaker - Ophthalmology

Hailing from New York, Dr. Carol Karp completed her undergraduate education and medical school training at the Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University. Dr. Karp went on to complete her ophthalmology residency training at the renowned Kellogg Eye Center at the University of Michigan.

This was followed by a fellowship in Cornea and External diseases at the premier Bascom Palmer Eye Institute. Dr. Karp subsequently joined the faculty at Bascom Palmer in 1994, where she has pioneered the use of interferon for the treatment for ocular surface squamous neoplasia and use of ultra-high resolution OCT as an 'optical biopsy' in the diagnosis of these tumors. Among the significant recognitions, Dr. Karp has received the honor of being voted one of America's best Eye Doctors by Newsweek in August 2021. She was named on the 2021 Power list as a top 100 woman in ophthalmology, by The Ophthalmologist, and had previously also was on the 2019 Power list as one of the top 50 most influential ophthalmologists. In addition, she was given the 2019 Shaler Richardson, MD, Service to Medicine Award from the Florida Society of Ophthalmology, recognized for greatest personal contribution to quality ophthalmic patient care.

OTOLARYNGOLOGY

Program

Albert Merati, MD
Guest of Honor Speaker – Otolaryngology

Dr. Merati is an internationally recognized leader in Otolaryngology-Head & Neck Surgery. Following medical school at the University of Washington under Charlie Cummings, he completed his Otolaryngology training at the University of California at San Diego, including one year of NIH research training. From there, Dr. Merati went to Vanderbilt to study Laryngology with Robert Ossoff at the premier training institution for academic laryngologists. This time at Vanderbilt included work with Jim Netterville on laryngeal framework surgery. Following very productive years at Kansas University and at the Medical College of Wisconsin, Dr. Merati returned to his native Seattle in 2007 to head up the Laryngology program at the University of Washington, now widely recognized among the leaders in clinical care, scholarship, and training in the nation. He has over 130 peer reviewed publications and also is the lead editor for the Textbook of Laryngology. Dr. Merati has served as Senior Examiner for the American Board of Otolaryngology - Head and Neck Surgery and as a Vice President of the Triological Society. Dr. Merati has earned two Distinguished Service awards from the American Academy of Otolaryngology - Head & Neck Surgery and is Past-President of the AAO-HNS as well as of the American Broncho-Esophagological Association, one of only a few who have held both posts. After serving as Service Chief for Otolaryngology-HNS at UW Medical Center for 5 years, Dr. Merati is now the Associate Medical Director for Perioperative Quality and Safety for the UW Medical Centers. In 2023 Dr. Merati was elected to join the AAOHNS Hall of Distinction as a “Living Legend” for his contributions to Otolaryngology – HNS.

Mai Thy Truong, MD,
Featured Speaker – Otolaryngology

Dr. Truong is a Clinical Associate Professor in the department of Otolaryngology – Head and Neck Surgery, division of Pediatric Otolaryngology at Stanford Children’s Hospital. She serves as the Clinic Chief and the Fellowship Director for the division. Dr. Truong oversees a dedicated Microtia and Atresia Clinic to provide care for all the reconstructive and hearing rehabilitative needs of children with microtia and canal atresia. Dr. Truong’s clinical interests include Vascular Anomalies and Fetal Management of critical airway (EXIT procedure), as well as congenital head and neck masses. Her research has explored the social impact of microtia, 3D modelling in microtia repair, the treatment of complex vascular anomalies and pediatric sleep apnea. Dr. Truong grew up in Northern California, the child of Vietnamese immigrant parents. She received her Bachelor of Science from the University of California, Los Angeles in Neuroscience, graduating with honors. She went on to medical school at the University of California, Irvine. Dr. Truong completed her residency training at Stanford University Hospital in Otolaryngology, Head and Neck Surgery. She did her Fellowship in Pediatric Otolaryngology at Stanford Children’s Hospital. She completed post-graduate training in Auricular reconstruction, microtia repair, in Paris, France with the world renowned plastic surgeon, Dr. Francoise Firmin. Dr. Truong is proficient in Spanish and conversational in Vietnamese languages. Her personal interests include musical theater and Karaoke. She strongly believes in the importance of respect for all the diversity of humankind.
